1.- INTRODUCTION

After the cancellation of the Ethical Trade Forums celebration in Murcia, Almería and Huelva last March due to the Pandemic of the Covid-19, the Ethical Trade Forums began a very dynamic stage with the creation of the Covid-19 Working Groups that have given rise to the different Covid-19 tools that are available in www.foroscomercioetico.com as well as the organization of ten online seminars with seven different themes raised by the attendees themselves.

Despite not being a presental forums, on July 14 and 16 the Online Ethical Trade Forums were held "Building a fair value chain after Covid-19". During the two days an initial part (which was issued recorded on the day of the 16th), and a second part in which a total of seven workshops (some repeated) were organized so that the attendees could go to at least four of them were the sessions established.

3.- WELCOME

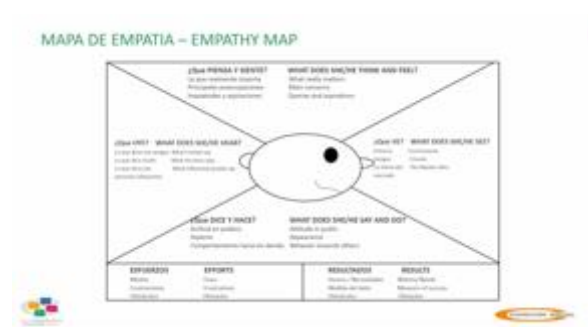

Sergio Barberá (CS) welcomes attendees and reviews the current sector and the ETF. It also discusses the 9 social and labor risks more persistent in the sector in order to set targets for work on them in the EDF environment.

4.- WORKING GROUPS

Each of the Working Groups created from the origin of the FCE had their space to present their work.

- Huelva Working Group - Farmer-Client Empathy:

Belén Fernández de Peñaranda (Driscoll's), Victoria Rodríguez (Onubafruit) and Isabel Martínez (Angus Soft Fruits) presented the origin of the group's work. They explained the creation of the empathy map which is a very useful tool to resolve misunderstandings between different actors.

Then they detailed the workshops that were organized in the International Forums last October using this map of empathy and the conclusions obtained from the relationship between farmer and customer contributed by the participants of these workshops; producers and supermarkets.

- Covid-19 Working Group - The 4 Tools of the Forums

María Victoria Flores, Conexión Social Technician, explained the three tools developed by the Covid-19 Working Groups during this pandemic, and which are available in www.foroscomercioetico.com. She also announced the fourth tool focused on Individual Protective Equipment (IPEs) scheduled for the end of July.

These are the three Covid-19 tools:

- Risk analysis and implementation of measures against Covid-19: labor aspects
- Risk analysis and implementation of measures against Covid-19: food safety
- Risk analysis and implementation of measures against Covid-19 for workers in agricultural fields

- Almeria Working Group– Occupational climate surveys for field workers

Mari Carmen Cano and Angeles Morales of the company SAT EUROSOL, detailed the project consisting of the design and development of a tool to evaluate the working climate of workers in the field through an anonymous questionnaire made through the mobile phone and having the collaboration of a service company.

To illustrate the project, a live test was conducted during which ETF attendees received a call to their mobile to conduct a test survey, getting the answers immediately.

- Good practices guide for housing workers

Alonso García de AGomez and Paco Rodríguez de Onubafruit presented this guide redacted in June 2019 and presented at the October International Forum. In recent months it has been in consultation, receiving comments from NGBs, trade unions and the workers themselves, and which have been taken into account in developing a practical guide to minimums that farmers can use, setting achievable targets in a first phase, and later re-evaluating it to establish other more demanding requirements.

- Good Practices Guide to ETT Responsible Use

On this guide and representing one of the first WG that were created in the ETF, Verónica Guillém of Agrios el Carril reviewed since its origin in February 2018. How they identified the objectives of this guide and its development in collaboration with the labor agencies.

This document is a living tool that is constantly evolving and improving and is currently in the public consultation phase displayed on the ETF web.

- Working Group Protocol, Prevention and Action against Harassment

This group was created in 2019 but has not been able to develop its work as with the arrival of Covid-19 they focused their efforts on the tools of the Covid-19. They have now resumed work to develop the Protocol to be presented at the events in October.

- Almería - Granada Working Group: Ethical Trade Forums Working Standard

Jesús Pablo Cañizares of Coprohnijar was the representative who explained the need to make a simple tool to implement social management systems, prioritizing small farmers, and also useful to larger companies and cooperatives.

The requirements and commitments must be decided by the producers, always living up to the requirements of the customers, so that the exemplary organizations participating in the ETF are the ones that lead the professionalization and improvement of conditions in the sector.

- New working groups: "Dialogue between workers' and company representatives" and "Grievance Management Systems"

Two new working groups have been created over the past few months and the first launch meeting has been held in these forums. Representative of companies from different regions as well as stakeholders representing trade unions and labor inspection have become part of these groups.

The WG "Dialogue between workers' and company representatives" will work on root causes and develop tools and resources to improve dialogue between workers and company.

The "Grievance Management Systems" WG will review current systems to improve them and potentially develop an effective system for receiving and managing worker complaints.

5.- FORUM UPDATE

- The Forum Communication

The Communication group that was born as a WG in Murcia, is currently a transregional group with members from different regions who have the technical support of Jesús Ollero, professional journalist.

This group represented by its two coordinators, Cecilia Gatti of Toroverde and Montse Pérez of NWF are carrying out a continuous communication work, through the Social Networks with publications on the LinkedIn channel keeping up to date the information of the activities of the ETF and the edition of the Newsletter. They are currently developing the idea for the organization of the Best Practices Awards in the sector.

A live survey of the ETF Communication tools was conducted to learn about the attendees' knowledge of them.

- Update on training seminars and future courses

On the CS's side, Macarena Alonso presented the online seminar plan developed by the ETF over the past four months.

With an average attendance of 86 people in each seminar and an average satisfaction rating of 8.37 points, ten seminars with seven different themes have been held;

- Fight against Covid-19
 - Risk analysis and preventive measures for workers
 - Food security
 - Work aspects
 - Good practices
 - New legislation related to Covid-19 interpretation
- Sustainability and management systems
- Equality plans and protocols for the prevention and management of occupational harassment

Finally, it presented the upcoming online seminars to be organized throughout 2020;

- Covid-19: Individual Protective Equipment to Prevent a re-growth in the workplace (July 29)
- Systems for continuous improvement and implementation of measures to increase productivity through better working conditions (September 10)
- Trends and strategies for responsible and sustainable management post Covid-19 (September 24)
- Collective bargaining (October)
- Workers grievance systems (November)

Presential way (if Covid-19 permits), the following will be organized:

- Training migrant workers in their labor rights for better inclusion. (October)
- Sustainability in the value chain. Appropriate relationships and conditions between participants in the production chain. (October)
- Leadership skills, conflict resolution and team management for supervisors.(November)

After the presentation, a new live survey was held regarding the expectations of the online seminars, which will serve us to set objectives.

6.- PRESENTATION BY FRESCA SHAYNE TYLER (FRESCA GROUP) AND SOPHIE HIORN (PRIMAFRUIT)

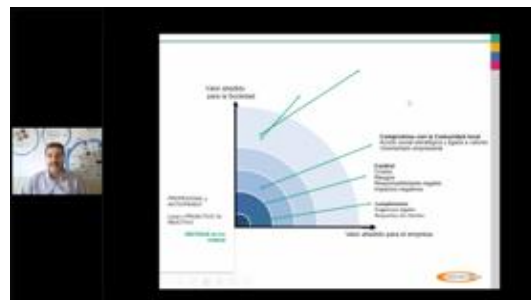

"How the new normal can help us build a fairer supply chain?" was the title of THE FRESH presentation, which offered a glimpse of the impact of Covid-19 on companies and the control measures that can be implemented in this new normal.

The presentation was offered in English with subtitles in Spanish, and after its screening Sophie Hiorn connected live to answer questions with the collaboration of Carmen el Castillo de Fresca Spain who performed the simultaneous translation.

7.- DEBATE ON THE FUTURE OF THE ETF

Before closing the first block of the day, Sergio Barberá de Social Connection presented the proposal of the future of the Forums including the quota plan and conducting a survey to know the priorities and positions of the attendees.

8.- WORKSHOPS

Six different workshops were scheduled, some of which were repeated to give attendees the option to participate in up to four of them.

1.- Pilot project surveys. Addressed by Sergio Barberá (CS)

Utility of this tool: Eliminates the employee's access due language skills, communication, distance, etc. It also removes barriers if the worker cannot read or write, or even the need of an "occasional" interpreter. It is a quick and easy to implement tool as mobile technology is widespread

The Pilot Project:

- It will serve to test the tool and validate it to conduct anonymous surveys of workers, especially:
 - In the field (although it is also valid for warehouses and offices)
 - In multicultural environments where workers do not understand the local language well and their native language is included in the survey
- The Working Group has prepared a questionnaire for participating companies. They will be done in September and the first fortnight of October
- Each company will complete an assessment of the experience writing down possible improvements, problems and recommendations for use for other companies in the Forums

- In October the experiences will be shared and will be decided whether finally the workshop proposed in the October Forums will be held that will serve to pool the experiences and to re-design/improve the questionnaire for all companies of the Forums

Phone survey features: It is an anonymous process, the information received directly from the workers themselves helps to detect long-term or timely work needs before they are more urgent. It allows to measure the change in working conditions and well-being at work over time and measure the effectiveness according to the workers themselves of any intervention or change that has been made. Technical support and survey damage to real needs, easy use and accessible results.

2.- SEDEX new SAQ & new trends in compliance, delivered by Ignacio del Castillo

The contents of the presentation was an introduction to the response that Sedex has had to the current scenario, developing specific questionnaires, a guide with recommendations for its members and the development of a methodology of remote advice, similar to SMETA.

He reviewed trends in findings from the last 3 years in SMETA Audits conducted in Spain.

He addressed the new Sedex Assessment Questionnaire (SAQ), explaining why it is relevant, how it is built, and what members can expect to achieve once they have completed it.

Close with a round of questions and the opportunity to deliver feedback or ask questions regarding Sedex in general.

3.- Environmental Workshop Switch to a more sustainable agriculture model; why here and now? Sébastien Guéry (Gabinete de Iniciativas Europeas, S.L.)

- He posed a sustainability, a triple "demand":
- Consumers are increasingly sensitive to the adequacy of agricultural practices with environmental protection
 - Generational change. The "Millennials"
 - Large distribution initiatives (Ferdoñana, Zitrus, Oryzonte)
 - COVID19, a turning point? French Election Results.
- The "green new deal": A remarkable twist on European public policies
- Sustainability is necessary to maximize farm profitability in a context of limited natural resources
 - Arable land (management)
 - Soil productivity (erosion, biodiversity)
 - Water (endowments, legality of catchments)
- Conclusion, sustainability, suggestion, demand or imposition?. And our answer as farmers: a superficial or profound response?

4.- First meeting of the Working Group “Dialogue between workers' and company representatives”

Participating organizations:

- AMFresh
- UGT CICA estatal
- Agrupación Coop Valle del Jerte
- Doñana 1998
- Angus Soft Fruits
- Alimer
- CCOO Agroalimentario Almería
- CCOO Sector Primario Andalucía
- Fruca
- Conexión Social

Topics that were discussed

On the representation of workers in the company: The committees are made up of the workers who have the right to train them. It is not the obligation of the company to train them, its obligation is to facilitate that they are formed in the case in which the workers have decided to exercise their rights. There can be no Health and Safety Committee if there is no representation as it normally emanates from legally elected trade union representation.

Analysis of Data surveyed among the attendees of the forum on the current representation of workers in the company: In the largest companies that have the highest volume of workers there is more stability of workers, therefore there is more capacity to appoint representative of workers. In small businesses it is difficult to be able to choose workers' representatives, unless the company puts the delegates.

Workers often do not exercise their right to represent workers. The reality of the sector is that they have had to promote the representation of workers because if not, workers do not.

Presentation of milestones until June 2021: It is discussed within the milestones of the Training and/or/o Training Materials.

It was discussed whether to make different or equal materials for both parties and for the formations to be joint or separate. No consensus was reached. It is left to reflect later, there will be time when the project is more focused.

It is valued who needs to be in this group and decides to include the members of the works council, representatives of agricultural associations and labor authorities (mediation)

As coordinator of the group and presents Ana Ma Montero volunteer of Cooperativa Valle del Jerte and agrees to find another person so that there are two coordinators.

Next steps:

Meeting at the beginning of September.

1. Root cause analysis.
2. Training Manual; discussion by email, decision, vote by mail.
3. Search for representative members to complete the group.

5.- First meeting of the Working Group "Mechanisms for Grievance Systems"

Participating organizations:

- Labor inspector - Málaga
- Responsible for the fruit and vegetable sector of UGT CICA statewide
- ANGUS SOFT FRUITS
- EXELTROP
- JIMBOFRESH INTERNATIONAL S.L.L
- COATO
- GRUPO CATALÁ
- Conexión Social

The role of this Working Group is to analyze, promote and create new systems and channels for complaint management.

It is raised that if a complaint is filed by a worker and someone detects who the worker is, the worker himself is afraid that next year he will not be hired and this may be one of the main causes for not using such systems and being able to express their complaints.

Also the problem of the temporality of the sector and the size of the company, since, depending on the size there are more or less resources to be able to implement this type of communication systems.

There is also the problem of being able to recognize the typeface that workers have so they prefer them to be done by computer or otherwise so that they cannot identify the letter.

Analysis of Data surveyed among forum attendees on the current representation of workers in the company:

- Percentages of companies that have Complaint Channels: (88%): We would have to analyze the type of companies behind the survey, because, depending on the size, we can find more or less resources to carry out this type of systems. If checked nationally, the percentages may be lower.

Companies should be prepared to ensure an anonymous complaint system

It is also raised plants whether companies with more than 100 employees actually get the information that they have the option to file complaints anonymously.

- As for the types of Complaint Channels, the group members state that the most common in companies are the suggestion box and the HR Department.

It arises if these channels refer to the plants or the field. Also the situation in companies whose HR is centralized and the work centers in different provinces, where there are no suggestion boxes and the presence of the HR figure, therefore, without the possibility of making complaints through any channel. There is also the possibility of anonymous and no anonymous channels.

As for ECLs (Labor Climate Surveys), it is considered that they are performed more commonly in fruit warehouses than in the field, which are less common.

- More spoken languages in the sector: The difficulty of those workers who do not speak the Spanish language in order to transfer their complaints and the problem of complaints from the workers of the LES, how do they reach and channel to the company the complaints of this type of workers?

Where the problem lies most is in the Service Companies, because at least the LES can listen to them by the LESs themselves.

It was commented that this group requires the representation of Company Management, NGOs and Agricultural Associations to be complete. The group's coordinators and their next steps were appointed.

6.- Experiences and Good Practices

Five representatives of companies in the sector participated in this workshop:

- Raquel Torá, Alhambra Fruit Quality Technician spoke about the methodology they are using in their company to avoid injuries of workers caused by manual work and repeated movements or postural overload, by implementing warm-up and stretching exercises prior to the working day. The different results obtained such as the reduction of injuries and accidents at work, improves performance, together with the good working climate generated, reflected this good practice. Raquel shared some audios with the voices of the workers themselves explaining the benefits obtained since the implementation of this practice in the company.
- Secondly, Ana Chaffey, Head of Quality at Royalveg, described how the Covid-19 challenge in the company and the measures that were implemented immediately, with particular relevance to the harvest staff and the problem of transporting workers, met with good practice. The creation of the Crisis Committee and the subsequent list of measures that were implemented in offices and warehouse, as well as the measures implemented in the field, resulted in contagion "0" at the end of the campaign, which has encouraged them to prepare a plan for the next campaign that is already defined.
- Juan Pérez Egea, Director of Human Resources and Sergio Castillo, Director of the PRL Department of the Alimer Cooperative, detailed the execution of the measures taken in its facilities and for its workers to protect Covid-19, offering graphic information of its facilities already equipped for the prevention of any incident related to the virus. Stalling, social estrangement, disinfectants and cleaning of facilities, information and protocols, were some of the points included in his presentation.
- Enrique Gomariz, Quality Technician of Fruits Poveda, offered a good practice in relation to the exercise as a minimisation of occupational risks and its impact on the mental health of the worker applied in his company. This practice is directly focused on the physical and mood of workers which has a positive impact on motivation, the quality of the work that is carried out and the working climate. Therefore, it is a low-cost but high-impact measure for the company.
- Emilio José Gancedo, Head of Quality and Purchasing at Zano beet, participated with a good practice regarding new technologies applied to the food industry to facilitate the relationship and control of workers both in the field and in the factory. Elements that facilitate access to electronic signature, certified communications, etc., are tools that make it easier for human resources managers and managers to verify that all workers are registered and that they are receiving their documentation in order, or that each operator has correctly signed their documentation.

9.- FORUMS EVALUATION

A total of 275 connections were activated to the internet platforms used during the two days, where attendees met and referred their evaluation surveys to us.

The assessment of a maximum of 10 points reported was:

- Overall rating of the Ethical Trade Forums Meeting: 8.43

This assessment is the general view that has been given as an overall note of what happened over the two days.

Positive comments were about the collection of ideas learned, easy access to the rooms through the links included in the agendas, good interventions and presentations, the topics covered were of great interest, as well as good organization and use of time. Although it was noted as an improvement, the need for more involvement of supermarkets in the forums.

- Previous communication announcing the event: 9.30

The programmed communication via email has been used from Social Connection and through the invitation letters sent by the companies Members (Sponsors) of the FCE, communications on the FCE website and this time we have incorporated the Tool of LinkedIn managed by the Communication Group.

- Forum content: 8.66

It refers to the topics covered in the agenda, the presentations and presentations offered, the dynamics carried out and the workshops held.

- Technological media used: 8.93

Use of GoToWebinar and supported by two open rooms in GoToMeeting for workshops. The direct access links to the main room were previously communicated and all of them were indicated in the agenda, which greatly streamlined the registration and access of the attendees.

- Joint evaluation of the exhibitions of the Working Groups: 8.75

The forums focused mainly on these groups. Representatives of each of the Working Groups set out their progress and expectations of work.

- Exposure Assessment Experiences and Good Practices: 8.54

Good practices and shared experiences are one of the parties that are most interesting and valued in any forum. Given the impossibility of being able to count on all the speakers on Thursday, they presented on Tuesday on two occasions so that as many attendees as possible could attend.

- Evaluation of the SEDEX workshop taught by Ignacio del Castillo "New SAQ & new trends in compliance": Ignacio del Castillo developed this workshop four times, two on Tuesday and twice on Thursday and had a lot of assistance. 8.54

- Workshop evaluation: Environmental workshop taught by Sébastien Ghéry "Change to a more sustainable agricultural model; why here and now?": We had two sessions of this workshop on Tuesday. 8.38

10.- CONCLUSIONS

Although Covid-19 has prevented the Ethical Trade Forums from performing their function on a regular basis affecting the interpersonal nature that characterizes them, new technologies have facilitated this task since over these months and steadily the Working Groups have become dynamic, and the holding of the Ethical Trade Forums has managed to meet and share once again the concerns and objectives of the sector.
